Two Decades of the Quad: Diplomacy & Cooperation in the Indo-Pacific

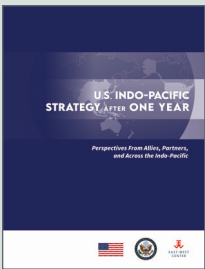

The East-West Center proudly organized this project in partnership with the Observer Research Foundation (ORF). The report was launched at the ORF Headquarters in Delhi, India on June 14th, 2024.

As the Quad marks its 20th anniversary, this report reflects on its journey, assesses its accomplishments, and contemplates its future trajectory amidst the dynamic geopolitical challenges facing the region. This report aims to provide a comprehensive analysis of the Quad's evolution, exploring its diplomatic endeavors, collaborative efforts, and the implications of its strategic engagements on regional stability and global order.

US Indo-Pacific Strategy after One Year: Perspectives from Allies, Partners, and across the Indo-Pacific

During 2023, the East-West Center, with support from the US Department of State, held a series of three closed-door conferences in Washington, DC; Honolulu; and Jakarta, at which US allies, partners, friends, and American experts and government officials provided their perspectives on US policy and implementation with respect to US Indo-Pacific Strategy. This report is based on insights shared at all three conferences and presents supplementary materials that provide further insights into how stakeholders perceive and assess Indo-Pacific Strategy.

Main Publications

ASIA MATTERS FOR AMERICA

The Asia Matters for America (AMA) initiative maps the trade, investment, employment, business, diplomacy, security, and people-to-people connections between the United States and the Indo-Pacific at the national, state, and local levels. The publications, one-page connection summaries for states and congressional districts, and the website are resources for understanding the robust and dynamic US—Indo-Pacific relationship.

Australia Matters for America

Asia Matters for America

APEC Matters for America

Asia Matters for America Public & Elite Opinion Poll

The Asia Pacific Bulletin (APB) is produced by the East-West Center in Washington. APB analyses focus on policy-relevant Asia Pacific developments and US-Asia relations and are 1000 words in length. APBs are designed to provide insights, information, and perspective for the busy professional or policymaker.

Recent Asia Pacific Bulletin Series

US-Australia Alliance - View from Southeast Asia

This special APB series is a joint effort of EWC's RICE program and ASPI. In this collection of briefs, ASPI EWC RICE scholars analyze the attitudes and policies of Southeast Asian nations toward the US-Australia alliance and how Southeast Asia envisions the alliance working for the benefit of individual nations and the region.

The EWC Occasional Paper series presents research findings on five broad themes: Indo-Pacific strategic competition and international relations; climate, energy, and environment; emerging technology and related diplomatic efforts; economic statecraft; and international organization and multilateral diplomacy. This series aims to serve as a platform for EWC staff, Visiting Scholars, Visiting Fellows, RICE recipients, Non-Resident Fellows, and Adjuncts to not only disseminate their ideas but also advance collaboration and exchange.

R.I.C.E. Recipient

Dr. Greg Brown

Senior Analyst
Australian Strategic Policy Institute (ASPI)

Through the East-West Center's RICE Fellowship program, ASPI, in collaboration with the EWC, will explore both what the US and Australia could "supply" through their relationship to Southeast Asia's security and prosperity, as well as the "demand" for this alliance as a public good among key Southeast Asian countries. A series of workshops and analytical commentaries involving experts in the Southeast Asia region will identify and fill the gaps between what the Australia-US alliance can do and what, crucially, the region wants it to do.

Congressional Staff Program on Australia (CSPAUS)

This bipartisan professional development certificate program aims to equip congressional staffers with the information and analyses necessary to appreciate the significance of Australia and the US-Australia alliance to the Indo-Pacific region. By focusing on crucial forward-looking issues, CSPAUS is designed to provide staffers with a more comprehensive understanding of Australia and its significance to US Indo-Pacific policy. This program is in partnership with and sponsored by the Australian Strategic Policy Institute.

Visiting Fellows

Dr. Rebecca Strating
Senior Lecturer, La Trobe University, Australia

The East-West Center in Washington (EWCW) provides three-month fellowships for individuals from the Indo-Pacific region, including the United States, to undertake research on topics of relevance to contemporary US-Indo-Pacific relations.

The East-West Center promotes better relations and understanding among the people and nations of the United States, Asia, and the Pacific through cooperative study research and dialogue. Established by the US Congress in 1960, the Center serves as a resource for information and analysis on critical issues of common concern, bringing people together to exchange views, build expertise, and develop policy options. The East-West Center in Washington, a program of the East-West Center, advances US-Indo-Pacific relations by creating innovative content, publications, exchanges, and outreach activities.
